

Health Innovation Ecosystem and International Health Technologies Accelerator (BIOİZMİR)

WORKSHOP

Advancing Biomedical Research & Development and Innovation in Turkey

Goal of the Workshop: To work with Turkish universities and research centres enhancing their technology transfer capabilities as a tool for increase commercialization of technologies and advance research & development and innovation process in Turkey.

Specific Objectives:

- 1) Discussion of the importance of technology transfer capabilities and its impact for Turkey's science, technology and health systems.
- 2) Understanding the NIH model for enhancing research and development and technology commercialization process.
- 3) Discuss case studies related to technology transfer applicable to Turkey
- 4) Share biomedical and health research & development activities at NIH/NCI including opportunities for Turkish researchers
- 5) Discuss potential for capacity building activities pertaining activities between NCI, other NIH institutes and centres, and universities and research centres in Turkey.

Instructor: Dr. Luis A. Salicrup, Senior International Cancer Research Specialist, Centre for Global Health, National Cancer Institute. National Institutes of Health (NCI/NIH)
